Transform your learning

Open source = Freedom

Innovate to succeed

Designed for Real People

We've put the learner at the centre and built on our years of learning design experience. With specific views for managers and administrators, everyone's needs are carefully designed for.

Built on a Winning Base

For three consecutive years, the eLearning Guild survey shows that Moodle™ is ranked as the number one LMS product among eLearning Guild members. Totara takes Moodle even further, with a series of interlinking extensions designed specifically for the enterprise. Totara will stay in lockstep with Moodle, so you'll always have Moodle's great functionality – and more.

Open for Business

Totara is 100% open source. We're offering all the benefits of open source freedoms, a continuing stream of innovations, plus the peace of mind that comes from expert support and value-added services through Totara subscriptions. Freedom is a core value and underpins our company ethos and is why we work with open source technologies. The combination of freedom and peace of mind is why our offer is truly transformative.

Overcome the LMS Barriers

Cost, customization and IT support are the top three barriers to successful implementation of learning management systems, as judged by eLearning Guild members in a recent study.

So how does Totara break through these barriers?

- Lower cost through open source
- Ease of customization
- Peace of mind from commercial support

Lower Cost Through Open Source

Totara achieves a significantly lower cost of ownership because there are no per user proprietary license fees. Review our subscription fees and do the math.

Customised, Your Way

Totara has a great range of features out of the box. You can take it further - the ability to customize is central to the open source model, and we've designed Totara to be highly flexible. Totara Partners will help you configure and customize it the way you want it.

Global Support: Peace of Mind

Totara Subscriptions ensure you have the latest security releases, patch updates, fully tested new feature releases, and error correction when required. Now, enterprises can procure the best value, fully featured open source LMS, secure in the knowledge that it is fully maintained and supported. Furthermore our global network of Totara Partners provides a choice of vendors and vendor neutrality. Thus you can switch vendor without switching platform.

Extend your Enterprise

Today the 'extended enterprise' can include the supply chain, channel partners, franchisees, joint ventures, partnerships, alliances and distributors and of course customers. With most proprietary software, extra users mean extra licence costs.

Forget that model. Totara doesn't have a per user license fee. Instead, our product support subscriptions are banded for 5 installation sizes and offer service, quality assurance, and not only a cost alternative, but an innovation alternative, to the closed – source proprietary products you've been offered to date.

keyfeatures

Create Learning Plans

Create targeted learning pathways to support onboarding, compliance, organizational change and certification. Develop tailored learning plans to address individual skill gaps based on organizational goals, job roles and competencies. Plans can be created by learners and/or their managers.

Create Informal and Social Learning

Totara supports the popular 70:20:10 learning model which has a strong focus on informal and workplace learning. With Totara, your employees can network, share ideas and tap into expert networks.

Performance Support

Provide access to e-learning, audio, video, slides and more. The sophisticated search facility also allows learners to access these learning objects just in time to support their performance in specific tasks.

Create Blends

Successful learning involves a wide range of methods. As well as rich e-learning delivery, manage all your face to face events through Totara. Provide self-service and course booking.

The reporting module developed for our LMS means we can filter and report right down to question level.

Cable&Wireless

“ Our open source solution delivered on every aspect. We now have a training package that offers more than anything else in the industry. ”
